“Outta” Nowhere we present a rising star, Tim Myers

Los Angeles, CA.----An avid bowler (5 -300 games and an 838 series), a shrewd card player, tennis buff, 7-handicap golfer with two Holes in One and a very successful business owner for twenty-five years, Tim Myers had many interests but none of them were remotely connected to music. Oh, he liked to listen and maybe on occasion, even danced a little, but for the most part when he wasn't working or traveling you could find him with his family and or friends indulging in one of his pastimes.

But in November of 2005, a major change was about to take place. While on a visit to his daughter's home in Idaho, his granddaughter, Sloane expressed her sadness about all the trees being cut down just to build a new shopping mall. Although I wouldn't describe Tim as a “tree hugger”, his granddaughter's feelings triggered his own (at 2:30 AM) and inspired Tim to write his first song,” “A New Strip Mall”.

Little did he or his family realize this was only the beginning? Their husband, father and grandfather couldn't stop himself. And now, a year and a half later, Tim has twenty-seven original songs in his repertoire, sings them all and has learned to play the guitar.

Oh and did we mention this new career was launched at a CD Release Party during his 60th Birthday celebration in September '06 at the Belamar Hotel in Manhattan Beach?

Reviews of the event were quite favorable and he was classified a little bit country. As Country Music is actually a catchall category that embraces several different genres of music, we believe with its roots in traditional folk music, Outta Nowhere presents a unique combination that does include a little bit country and maybe even some bluegrass. It can be adapted to several different styles, including Americana.

Tim, a longtime resident of El Segundo, CA is married to Vickie, an art teacher and also a prominent bowler, has two children and seven grandchildren.
